NEWSROOM NOTES — The U. S. Supreme Court, with much backing and filling over the past decade, at last seems to be arriving at a philosophy regarding obscenity which, while it will not satisfy everyone, may be the least imperfect solution to this difficult and enduring problem.

Reading between the lines of the court's latest decision voiding obscenity charges brought against a batch of girlie magazines in three states, and in the light of other recent decisions, the following guidelines seem to be emerging:

Censorship or suppression of reading or looking matter sold to adults will be extremely difficult and limited only to the most flagrant cases presenting a clear threat to the health of society.

However, laws designed to keep pornographic away from children, or vice versa, will likely be upheld.

But in no event will the court tolerate the "pandering" or high-pressure sale of erotic matter through such means as titillating advertising or unwanted junk mail.

This still does not answer the question of just what constitutes "pornography" or "obscenity," nor why it is permissible to use sex to sell shaving lotion but not magazines. Because the question is probably unanswerable, the court will continue to be called upon for verdicts in individual cases. But these three guidelines seem to be something each community can live with and work with.

Regarding adults, in the continuing absence of any proof that pornography is harmful, perhaps we can safely stop worrying about what people read or view of their own free will choice.

In the matter of juveniles, of course, there will be the constant problem of the abuse or bending of laws governing what may be sold to them. Yet in every state there are daily violations of laws banning the sale of cigarettes or liquor to minors and no one proposes that these products be outlawed for everyone. With pornography, as with tobacco and alcohol, the responsibility for protecting childern is necessarily as much the burden of parents as the police.

As for "antipandering" restrictions, these would hardly harm the sellers of salacious material. The smut producers no more need to go out and solicit customers than did speakeasy operators during the Prohibition era.

This approach to obscenity is a compromise between the greatest possible individual liberty and the preservation of the social fabric. It is an approach which some feel the Supreme Court may eventually decide is the most reasonable one it can take in a free society.

Two Hungarians Set Meeting With Defector

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Two Hungarian officials were flying in from Budapest today for a secret meeting with former Change D'Affaires Janos Radvanyi, who defected earlier this week.

The Hungarian government apparently wants to satisfy itself that no coercion was involved in Radvanyi's decision to seek asylum in the United States.

U.S. officials confirmed that a meeting between Radvanyi and two special envoys from Budapest has been arranged for an unspecified time in a secret location.

Syria Ready To Begin 'Liberation'

CAIRO (UPI) —Syria today said its armed forces are ready to begin "liberation" operations against Israel. The Arab nation said it had taken into consideration the possibility of "interference" by the U.S. 6th Fleet.

Syrian Defense Minister Maj. Gen. Hafez el Assad was quoted by the official government newspaper Al-Thawra (revolution): as saying:

"We are awaiting the go-ahead signal from the political command."

"There is unanimity in the Syrian army . . . to speed up the battle," he added.

El Assad said: "We have taken into consideration the possibility of American 6th Fleet interference."

The fleet is based in the Mediterranean, reportedly within 24 hours sailing time of the Middle East crisis zone.

El Assad who is also air force commander, was quoted as saying all preparations for war with the Israelis were completed.

Map Battle Ground

He said Syrian aircraft had flown over Israeli positions on reconnaissance missions and had been fired on by American-built Hawk missiles and anti-aircraft guns.

Syrian armed forces, El Assad said, stand ready "not only to repel Israeli aggression but to start the liberation operation itself and blow up the Zionist presence in the Arab nation of Palestine."

As El Assad asserted Syria's willingness to pitch into war his foreign minister, Ibrahim Makhous, accused the United States Central Intelligence Agency of responsibility for the Middle East crisis.

Makhous told the Cairo newspaper Akhbar El Yuom that a recent meeting of American diplomats in Beirut, Lebanon was actually a gathering of CIA agents.

Makhous said the alleged agents approved "the importance of getting rid of the revolutionary regimes in the Middle East, foremost among them those of Cairo and Damascus."

U.N. Pulls Out

The Syrian charges came as United Nations peace-keeping forces pulled out of the Sinai Peninsula desert for the first time since the Egyptians and Israelis warred in 1956.

Arabs warned that U.S. oil interests would be smashed if war breaks out.

To the wail of Indian bagpipers the 3,400-man United Nations force peeled off the 117-mile-long Sinai line and mustered in departure camps in the coastal Gaza strip. They went in action that Egypt demanded, U.N. Secretary General Thant agreed to with "serious misgivings" and that Israel called "hasty."

Throughout the Arab world prayers for a "holy war" against Israel were spoken in mosques. Cairo's powerful "Voice of the Arabs" radio broadcast echoed the hymn. The radio added, "It will be our opportunity to destroy the American presence in the Arab world."

Threaten U.S. Interests

Station director Ahmed Saeed said Arabs are prepared in case of war to see U.S. oil interests in the Middle East "turned into ashes." Arabs accused America, Britain and the United

Thant Calls Crisis Worst Since Suez

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary General Thant warned the U.N. Security Council today that the situation in the Middle East was "more menacing" than at any time since the 1956 Suez crisis.

In a written report to the council, Thant blamed the new crisis on Arab El Fatah terrorists and inflammatory statements from Israeli leaders.

He said persistent reports of troop movements and concentrations on the Israeli side of the Syrian frontier have not been borne out by U.N. observations there.

Troops Withdrawn

Thant said the withdrawal of U.N. Emergency Forces (UNEF) from the Egyptian frontier would be "orderly, deliberate and dignified."

"I do not believe that any of the governments concerned are so careless of the welfare of their own people or of the risks of a spreading conflict as to deliberately embark on military offensives across their borders," Thant said, "unless they are convinced —rightly or wrongly — that they are threatened."

Thant's report, released less than an hour before a scheduled conference with Canadian External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, said it would help if Israel would end its long-standing boycott of the Egyptian-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission (EIMAC), headquartered in Gaza, and if Syria and Israel would resume participation in the Israeli-Syrian Mixed Armistice Commission (ISMAC).

"I do not wish to be alarmist," Thant said, "but I cannot avoid the warning to the council that in my view the current situation in the Near East is more disturbing — indeed I may say more menacing --than at any time since the fall of 1956.

Increasing Tension

"A number of factors serve to aggravate the situation to an unusual degree, increasing tension and danger.

"El Fatah activities, consisting of terrorism and sabotage, are a major factor in that they provoke strong reactions in Israel by the government and population alike. Some recent incidents of this type have seemed to indicate a new level of organization and training of those who participate in these actions."

Auxiliary Police Learn Traffic Control Techniques

Seven members of the newly organized Dixon Auxiliary Police force Friday night received "on-the-job-training" from regular policemen. Above, directing traffic at First St., and Hennepin Ave., is Grex Urey, 1207 Fourth Ave., as patrolman officer Ray Nehring, right, looks on. There are 13 auxiliary policemen on the force at present who are on 24-hour emergency call and who will assist police in directing traffic during parades and during the Petunia Festival. Police Chief Earl Kelchner said more men are needed and anyone interested in joining the organization should contact him at the police station. In addition to Nehring's group at the intersection, officer William Killian had charge of four auxiliary policemen at First St., and Peoria Ave.

By Hong Kong Rioters

Removal of British, U.S. Flags Demanded

HONG KONG (UPI) — Communist gangs roamed through Hong Kong's tourist center today, demanding American and British flags be removed, roughing up Westerners and swarming into the Suzy Wong bar district catering to U.S. sailors on leave from Vietnam.

In a dramatic appearance at the 25-story Hilton Hotel at dusk, about 100 Red Guard-type Chinese demanded the doorman take down the rooftop American flag. They cheered as the banner came down, although a hotel official told them it always was taken down at that time.

UPI cameraman Marvin Farkas spotted dozens of teenage Chinese pushing and hitting a Westerner. Others reported more such incidents as the anti-British rioting picked up an anti-American flavor in the Communist campaign to humble this British crown colony.

A Red Guard-type band shouted "Yankee-go-home" slogans outside the U.S. consulate.

In a list of stern demands earlier this week, Peking demanded that Britain stop allowing U.S. Naval ships to visit Hong Kong. The Communists claimed the United States was using Hong Kong as a "base of aggression" for the Vietnam war.

The Chinese demonstrators outside the U.S. consulate waved the little red books containing quotations of Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung.

North Vietnam's federation of trade unions added its protest to that of Peking and said the British were "letting the U.S. use Hong Kong as a rear base for its war of aggression in Vietnam."

(In London, Foreign Secretary George Brown delivered what an official statement called a "very strong oral protest" about the harassment of British officials in Communist China.

("Our property had been sacked and defaced and a portrait of the queen had been smeared and insulted," the foreign office said.)

In Hong Kong, 156 Chinese organizations took full-page newspaper ads to pledge their support for British authorities.

Thieu To Run Against Premier Ky

SAIGON (AP) — Fears of a crack in the unity of South Vietnam's military rose today with the announcement that Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu has decided to run against Premier Nguyen Cao Ky in the presidential elections this September.

A contest between Thieu, an army lieutenant general, and Ky, an air vice marshal, could badly divide saigon's military hierarchy at a time when Communist pressure is increasing.

Ky refused to comment on the announcement of Thieu's candidacy, saying he would have to talk first with Thieu.

The premier had said earlier, when announcing his own candidacy, that he would withdraw if Thieu decided to run for the sake of unity. It was felt, however, that Ky was marking time until he could find out how much support he had among military leaders.

Two Physicians Retrace Lindy's Route to Paris

PARIS (UPI) —Two American physicians flew in today from New York in a private beechcraft Bonanza aircraft to commemorate the 40th anniversary of Charles A. Lindbergh's historic solo flight across the Atlantic.

Dr. Francis X. Sommer of Barbourville, Ky. and Dr. John Rieger of Los Gatos, Calif., landed at Pontoise-Cormeilles Airfield outside of Paris at 9:44 a.m. (4:44 a.m. EDT).

They left New York at 8:49 a.m. (3:44 a.m. CDT).

From Paris, the two plan stops in Nice, Rome, Athens, Istanbul, Tehran, Karachi, Calcutta, Bangkok, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Pt. Barrow, Alaska, and back to New York around June 21.

At Evreux Air Base, 60 miles west of Paris, an exact replica of Lindbergh's plane was being readied for a commemorative flight to the French capital Sunday.

Frank G. Tallman, 48, president of Tallman aviation of Santa Ana, Calif., is to fly the new Spirit of St. Louis to Lebourget Airfield 40 years to the day after Lindbergh. "I hope to land as near as possible to the spot where Lindbergh originally landed," he said.

Tallman said his company built the replica from the original plans. The plane, which was flown in parts from the United States, was reassembled at Evreux.

OK Extra Antipoverty Fund Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $75-million fund aimed at preventing big-city summer rioting has won Senate approval — but still faces a House test.

The Senate action Friday came one day after President Johnson said staff reports from 10 cities had promped him to ask for the extra antipoverty money.

And it came despite a warning from Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., that civil rights leader Stokely Carmichael is trying to intimidate Congress into pouring millions of dollars into Northern slum areas.

The money, if finally approved, would be used for jobs, recreation, playgrounds, swimming pools and other summer projects.

It was part of $2.26 billion in a supplemental spending bill — most of which was passed earlier by the House — which won approval 74 to 1. The money is for use between now and July 1, the start of the next fiscal year.

The Senate added another $143 million in items which the House must consider. It also threw in a ban on using antipoverty money for establishment or operation of a general coverage newspaper, magazine, radio station or television station.

The Senate added $10 million of the $12 million Johnson asked for preservice training this summer of National Teacher Corps recruits and interns. The House had voted nothing for this.

Jets Hit North Viet Airfield

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. jets shot down five more Communist MIG interceptors in swirling dogfights over Hanoi today, bringing the total of confirmed kills to nine in the past two days, U.S. spokesmen reported. American planes also bombed 31 MIGs caught sitting on an airfield near the North Vietnamese capital on Friday.

There was no let up either in the ground war. U.S. Marines staged another helicopter assault into the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) today and joined the massive allied "hunt-and-destroy" operations against about 5,000 Communist troops fighting back with tear gas and heavy artillery. Scattered fighting also was reported in South Vietnam.

American spokesmen said seven U.S. planes were lost in Friday's raid on Hanoi and their 10 crewmen listed as missing. There was no immediate word on American losses, if any, in the attacks today.

Say 10 Downed

The North Vietnamese claimed 10 shot down Friday and five pilots captured.

U.S. jets Friday dodged through missiles and other anti-aircraft fire and tangled with MIGs to bomb a key power plant only 1.1 miles from the heart of Hanoi—the closest yet —and also hit a sprawling army supply base just five miles to the south.

In addition to the kills, American fliers were credited with two probables in the two days of battles. Heavy anti-aircraft fire prevented any exact assessment of damages caused to the 31 MIGs—an estimated 25 per cent of North Vietnam's air force—in the strike at an airfield about 20 miles west of Hanoi.

The two day toll brought the total MIG kill of the war to 69. North Vietnam President Ho Chi Minh's 77th birthday cost the Americans seven planes—a loss exceeded only on Dec. 2 when eight U.S. planes went down.

The Americans caught and bombed "on target" 31 MIG17s camouflaged just south of the Hoa Lac base 20 miles west of Hanoi. U.S. pilots shot down four and possibly five of the Communist planes that rose to meet them.

In Corpus Christi

Kidnaped Tot Is Found

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI) — A little curly haired girl, taken from her bed as she slept, was found a half-mile from home, apparently unharmed today. She was taken to a hospital for a checkup.

The girl, Deborah Kay McLean, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McLean of Corpus Christi, was in the family auto, which had been stolen from the home. She was still in her red pajamas.

"She did not have much to say," McLean said, "She does not usually talk very much. She did not seem to be scared much by it. We feel a whole lot better now that we know she is all right. A neighbor, I don't even know her name, called and said she found Debby and she was all right. That is about seven blocks away."

The screen had been forced off a window near where the child slept during the night. The car was missing from the garage.

Police were puzzled as to the motive.

No ransom message had been received.

"I don't see how it could be for money "McLean, a 28-year-old bakery salesman said. "I don't see how it could be for revenge.

"I don't know anybody who would want to take her or why," he said.

Detective Lt. W. J. Smith said a set of man's shoe prints was found in a flower bed outside the girls' bedroom window. Smith said the bed was near the window and someone could lean in and lift the girl. The screen had been forced off and laid on the ground five feet away.

Deborah was sleeping in a double bed with her 7-year-old sister. Police said the sister slept through the incident.

McLean said his wife went in to check on the girls about 1 a.m. and Deborah was not in the bed. The parents searched the house and discovered the window screen had been removed.

They then went outside and found the family's 1962 off-white station wagon was gone. Smith said Mrs. McLean had left the auto parked at their home, with the keys still in it, when she returned late Friday.

McLean said Deborah has light brown hair in curls to her shoulders and her eyes are light brown.

Chicago Strike Settled; Milk Deliveries Resume

CHICAGO (UPI)—The dispute which choked off milk deliveries in Chicago for the second time this month was settled early today after a marathon 14-hour meeting between union and dairy negotiators in the office of Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The agreement reached between members of the Milk Wagon Drivers Union Local 753 and the 59 area dairies which joined in a lockout Friday started trucks rolling in the city shortly after 6 a.m. today.

All retail stores in the area reported they were out of milk Friday night.

The lockout began Friday after drivers struck the Wanzer and Sons dairy in a dispute over payment of wages for the two days of the earlier strike-lockout May 1 and 2.

The walkout precipitated a lockout by the other area dairies against the 5,000-member milk drivers' union local.

Faced with the possibilities of a milk crisis during the weekend, Daley summoned to his office in the afternoon negotiators for Local 753 and the Milk Dealers' Association, which called the lockout in retaliation to the Wanzer strike.

Except for a dinner recess, talks continued through the night.

The unexpected strike and lockout had as its stem an earlier dispute which was settled May 3. At that time, the union agreed to go back to work after a new contract was negotiated.

But the union rank and file rejected the pact on May 11 because the contract did not include provisions for collecting pay for the two days the drivers were locked out—May 1 and 2. Union leaders charged the dairies with failing to live up to an agreement to pay the drivers for the two days.

District 271 Awards Two Building Contracts

LEE CENTER — A contract for construction of an industrial arts building at Franklin Center High School, Franklin Grove, was awarded to William Hubbell and Son, Dixon, at the monthly meeting of the District 271 Board of Education Monday.

A contract for construction of a grade school gymnasium at Paw Paw was awarded to Frank Johnson, Sycamore.

Both projects were approved by district votrs recently. No bond issue was involved.

Contract for mechanical work at both new building sites was awarded to Rock River Heating and Plumbing, Rock Falls.

The total amount of warrants approved were as follows: education fund, $45,938.48; building fund, $7,761.43; transportation fund, $4,668.75; rent, $12,000; IMRF, $64.79.

Willard Murry, district guidance director, reported to the board on the results of standardized achievement tests that were given throughout the district recently. According to the battery medians the classes were above the national average in achievement.

Supt. William D. Grove reported on a visit from the state office of Miss Eileen Iberg, curriculum consultant, who came at his request. In her report, Miss Iberg commented favorably on up-to-date textbooks, the results of the students on the standardized achievement tests and the fact that there are a district librarian and a guidance director.

Miss Iberg suggested that the school might want to organize a curriculum committee, particularly to see what can be done to improve health instruction, physical education and art supervision. She indicated that there might be a need to depend mostly on the district's present teachers because of shortages in these fields.

Monday, May 29, was declared a special school holiday because all the district's emergency days were not used this year.

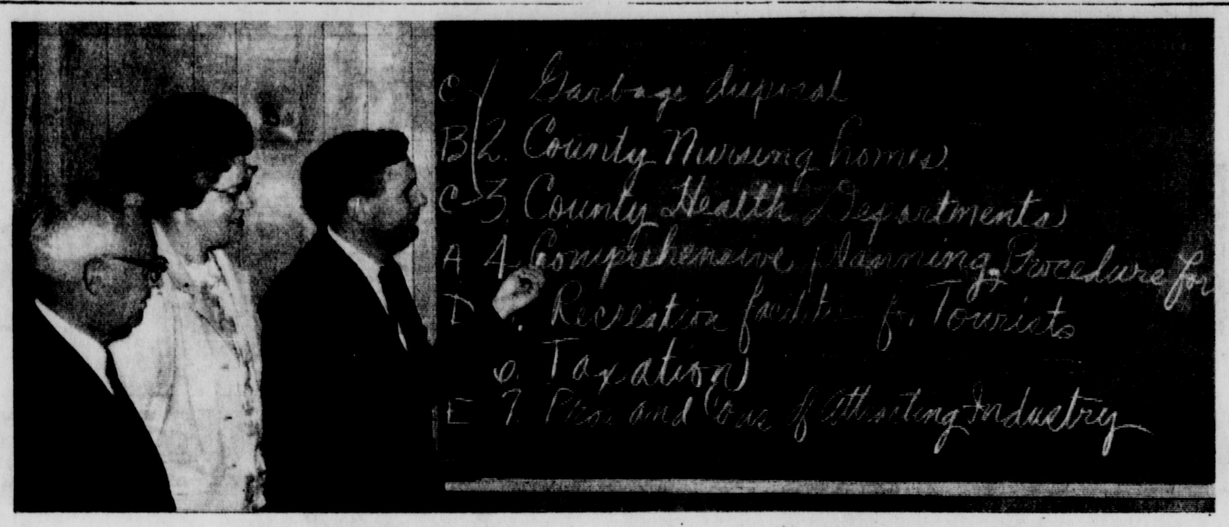
Representatives of the Lee County Migrant Council presented the board with a request that the board sponsor an adult education program for migrant workers and a summer program for the younger children. This the board agreed to do with the understanding that the council would conduct the programs.

Junior college tuition was approved for six students.

A resolution was passed to dispose of the Kesselring School. The county board will have to approve its sale at public auction.

Resignations of the following teachers were accepted: Dale Huff, Beverly Huff, Leonard Lehto, Viola Bradley, Philip Oscarson, Judith Harding, Stanley Gibson and Alberta Collier.

Contracts were approved for Terry Ambler to teach mathematics at Paw Paw, John Horst to teach Industrial Arts at Franklin Grove and Rosemary Kemper to teach English at Paw Paw.



New Area Adviser Studies Meeting Topics

Byron Hutchins, (right) who has accepted a position in Dixon as area adviser with the Cooperative Extension Office, studies topic to be discussed this fall at a series of northwestern Illinois meetings on Community Planning. With him are Clyde Emmert, Dixon Township assistant supervisor, and Mrs. Frances Reeverts, Lee County home adviser. Hutchins, present Carroll County farm adviser, will be responsible for the field of resource development. He will move here June 1. Last year's meetings were held in Lanark.

Award Winner

Bonnie Thompson, Franklin Center High School, Franklin Grove, senior, has been awarded the Crisco Trophy for outstanding work in home economics. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson, rural Franklin Grove.

Sauk Fine Arts Festival Slated Sunday

Sauk Valley College "Fine Arts Festival" will be presented Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. in the college's student center.

The public is invited to view dramatic performances, a student art exhibit, music by the Sauk Valley Collegiate Singers, and readings and oral interpretations given by SVC students who have competed in speech tournaments during the year. Admission is free.

Dramatic performances will include scenes from Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke" and Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman."

Oral interpretations and readings include "Twilight", by the Polish novelist Wladislaw Reymont, poems by E. E. Cummings, and James Thurber's "The Catbird Seed."

The Sauk Valley Collegiate Singers will sing many of the songs they performed on their spring tour including "Climb Every Mountain," "Consider Yourself at Home," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Student artists will be present to discuss paintings, drawings and sculpture.

Ike Relaxes At Gettysburg Farm Today

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was recuperating at his Gettysburg farm today after a 13-day hospital stay that followed an attack of gastroenteritis.

The former president, who was hospitalized last May 6 and released from Waler Reed Army Medical Center Friday, was expected to spend most of his time at home relaxing with a possible trip or two into his office at Gettysburg College next week.

Brig. Gen. Robert L. Schulz, ret., Eisenhower's aide, said the 76-year-old five-star general "looks and feels good."

Upon leaving the hospital Friday, Eisenhower said he feels fine, real fine" and is willing to visit Vietnam and the Far East for President Johnson if his doctors permit. Johnson suggested the trip a few months ago.

DMZ Buildup: A Defensive Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The State Department says the buildup of North Vietnamese forces in the Demilitarized Zone left the United States "no choice" but to move troops into the buffer strip to counter the threat of an all-out invasion.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey emphasized Friday that allied troops have not invaded North Vietnam's half of the six-mile-wide strip and termed the U.S. action a "purely defensive measure."

McCloskey said U.S. troops are confining their "search and destroy" operation to the southern sector of the DMZ, where the Communists have reportedly massed thousands of troops.

"North Vietnam has been using the area illegally to support aggression against South Vietnam," McCloskey said. "Their buildup in the southern portion of the zone is in violation of the Geneva accords just as is their infiltration."

McCloskey said the U.S. troops were fully familiar with the old border separating North and South Vietnam and would not cross it. He said the troops would stay in the DMZ no longer than necessary.

The DMZ —running 44 miles east to west and three miles on each side of the border —was set up as a buffer between North and South Vietnam.

It was supposed to be free of any military activity, but McCloskey ventured there were thousands of North Vietnamese troops in the southern half of the zone. He said the possibility of an open Communist invasion of South Vietnam, could not be ruled out.

Hearing Set in Springfield for Tavern Owner

A Sterling man who operates the B and B Lounge, 81 Galena Ave., here, will have a hearing Monday in Springfield before the Illinois Liquor Control Commission stemming from his arrest April 1 by State Police on a charge of keeping a gambling house.

The hearing for disposition of the liquor license for John L. Brown, 38, of Sterling, is set for 10 a. m.

Brown was charged after three state police undercover agents allegedly placed a $25 bet with him on the outcome of a series of billiard games.

Brown is also scheduled for a bench trial here before Magistrate James Thorp, Milledgeville, who was assigned to the case by Chief Circuit Judge Marvin F. Burt, Freeport, after Magistrate Morey Pires granted a defense motion for a change of judges.

No trial date has been set.

Arrest Driver

Eighteen-year-old David Diveley, West Brooklyn, was arrested for making an improper left turn Friday afternoon after his car rammed the side of one driven by Rolland J. Serzow, 63, Waukesha, Wis., on U.S. Alt. 30, 3 miles west of Dixon.

State Police said Diveley, eastbound, slowed to turn left and then waved Serzow's eastbound car by. As Serzow's car passed, Diveley turned left and the two autos collided.

Damage to both cars was minor.

the DMZ, long used by the North Vietnamese as a war base.

UPI staff correspondent Robert Kaylor reported heavy fighting on several fronts. Some of it came at such close range that U.S. jets could not drop their bombs.

The North Vietnamese, pressed on three sides with the Ben Hai River blocking their retreat to the north, used recoilless rifles, mines and artillery from North Vietnam as well as the tear gas in attempt to halt the Leathernecks and their South Vietnamese paratrooper allies.

The Marines, who launched the offensive Thursday with land, sea and air assaults, reported killing so far at least 232 Communists. The South Vietnamese killed another 40. Marines reported at least 27 men killed and about 226 wounded seriously enough to need evacuation. The government troops reported light losses.

Arrest Three DHS Students; Set Hearing

Three Dixon High School coeds were ordered held in County Jail Friday by Associate Circuit Judge John Dixon and are waiting for a hearing Tuesday on probation violation in connection with alleged liquor violations May 12 in which a 22-year-old rural Dixon man also was charged.

Taken into custody on petitions filed by Asst. State's Atty. Kelly Kappler were Janice Barnes, 16, 1305 N. Forest Ave., and two other girls, one 15 and the other 14 years old.

The petitions ask that their probations, handed down in March for shoplifting, be revoked, alleging they violated terms of their probations May 12 by being present at a mobile home in rural Dixon when several other minors were given or sold liquor.

Frank Hiatt, 22, Rt. 4, at whose mobile home on Illinois 26, three miles south of here, the alleged offenses occurred, has been charged with selling or giving liquor to a minor on a complaint signed by Mariebelle Smith, 421 Second St.

The complaint states Hiatt gave or sold liquor to her son, Ronald, 17. Authorities said an investigation revealed the three coeds and possibly nine other DHS students, all minors, were involved in the incident.

Hiatt is scheduled to have a hearing in his case Tuesday morning, while the three girls will have a hearing in Juvenile Court Tuesday afternoon.

The investigation being conducted by the assistant state's attorney is expected to result in more charges against other students.

If a South African native understands "government cannot give you something that it first does not take away from you," why can't we? . . . the story goes that "a South African native was told he had to be taxed because his government, like a father, protected him from enemies, cared for him when he was sick, fed him when he was hungry, and gave him an education, and for these reasons needed money. The old native said: "Yes, I understand.

"It is like this: I have a dog and the dog is hungry. He comes to me and begs for food. I say to him, 'my dear faithful dog, I see you are very hungry. I am sorry for you. I shall give you meat!' I then take a knife, cut off the dog's tail, give it to him and say: 'Here my faithful dog, be nourished by this piece of meat.' "

Claim 24 Pro-Maoists Buried Alive

HONG KONG (UPI) —A Peking wall poster today said "reactionaries" opposed to Communist leader Mao Tse-tung buried alive 24 of his Red Guard followers in embattled Szechuan province.

Other posters today told of fighting at Ipin in Szechuan in which 200 persons were killed and 1,500 were injured.

Szechuan is reportedly the strongest center of resistance to Mao's "cultural revolution" purge. Earlier Peking posters said armed anti-Maoists were wreaking vengeance on the party chairman's adherents in the Chinese power struggle.

There were no details of how the Red Guards were buried or where the alleged atrocity took place. Japanese correspondents quoting the poster said the 24 guards arrived from Peking with four women students. The women were reportedly "attacked."

How Fakers of Art Operate

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

The international investigation touched off when Dallas art buyer Algar H. Meadows was nicked $1 million for 44 fakes is long overdue.

The dupe's entrapment is relatively simple, and this is how it works:

The first thing the swindling ring does is supply documentation — a gesture the buyer regards as money in the bank.

TAYLOR

A ring member starts the fake picture on its way at a small-town auction, generally in France, Italy or Spain. Then a forged "certificate" testifies that the find is, say, a Renoir.

Prolific, erratic, limping, rheumatic Renoir was one of five children of an impoverished tailor who suddenly changed his style and found his greatness. But there were plenty of Renoirs before the marvelous old man died — some 6,000 — some very fine, some very bad, but plenty.

The swindler exhibits the "certified" picture at an obscure exhibition abroad. Experts aren't there, but this gets the picture into gallery catalogues, further making foolproof the authenticity. The ring also has some critics on its payroll. These help other critics be wrong, as auto heir Walter Chrysler Jr. discovered when specialists at Ottawa's National Museum of Art indicated he'd been sold 90 fake Cezannes, Van Goghs, etc. The money taken put oilman Meadows' nick to shame. And currently a collection of Miros is the subject of a $2 million lawsuit.

Having carefully (and expensively) staged the auction-exhibit-catalogues-critics scenario, the international ring is ready for the pigeon, providing it can make the pigeon suspicious of any specialists and keep them apart.

The great specialists have the indispensable inner eye that sees better than their other two. A lifetime familiarity with a certain master, saturated by his work, lets them detect a fake almost instantly.

This is what famous collection examiner Klaus Perls, president of the respected Art Dealers Association of America, calls "the emotional response" that springs like a bolt of light from the first look.

Mr. Perls: "The faker will let his own personality creep in somehow, and it just isn't in the personality of the artist being forged."

Beyond this, on the physical side, when colors age they blend chemically. The subtle internal process can betray the forger. Notable examples to the specialist would be the resulting limp placidity of a landscape by Corot, the absence of deep-green, dark-blue and garnet-red from Gauguin's palette and the glare in his Brittany period, or Correggio's wonderful harmony of light and shade. X-rays and other instrument and chemical methods are the clinchers.

Hilaire Degas once complained: "As far as the public is concerned the only good artist is a dead artist." And the faker's biggest coup, of course, would be Michelangelo. The total number of authentic, accepted pictures by Michelangelo can be counted on your fingers and his Sistine Chapel fresco is probably the world's most valuable work of art. He is simply not a part of the fake art market. In fact, the forgers usually pass up the hallowed Renaissance trinity — Da Vinci, Michelangelo and Raphael; and the 17th Century trinity — Rembrandt, Velasquez and that busy mass-producer of paintings, Sir Peter Paul Rubens.

Their masterpieces are priceless; therefore, worthless — and almost impossible to palm off.

The worst trouble comes with the mystery artists who are utterly genuine. On Nov. 29, 1966, a 1693 signed print of Rembrandt's etching, "The Three Crosses," sold at Southeby's in London for $84,000. The record price for a print is $89,600 for "The Woman's Bath" — by an artist known to the art world only as Master P.M., who is thought to have flourished in Cologne in the late 1400s. It was one of only five of the unknown master's prints known to exist.

A second problem arises from masters who copied masters. Colleagues of Spanish genius Andrea del Sarto for example copied del Sarto and del Sarto copied Raphael magnificently and anonymously. Immortal Titian copied his teacher Il Giorgione whose only known 10 pictures are even more valuable than Titians. Jean Corot and many other French masters through the centuries often signed their own names to their students' paintings as a sign of favor and encouragement.

"It takes a lifetime to learn to see" said specialist Bernard Berenson. Mr. Meadows was luckier than some others.

Protesters Draw More Coverage Than Soldiers

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A few days ago, as this was being written, 18 "protesters" (sometimes 22) were picketing outside the Pentagon River entrance.

Television cameras were running. These youngsters were being written up on the front pages of newspapers. Their views were receiving wide expression.

At least one commentator talked of their "courage."

In South Vietnam, there are a good many protesters—men protesting against the take-over of one people by another through armed invasion, terrorism and underground subversion.

In the past five months, more than 15,000 officers and men who completed their year's tour in Vietnam volunteered for an additional tour of duty.

Of the 441,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam, 335,000 are there because they volunteered for service or extra service in the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force or Marines, most knowing they'd likely be sent to Vietnam. Almost every American civilian in South Vietnam volunteered for the Southeast Asian duty.

More than 85 per cent of the Americans killed in Vietnam volunteered for service or extra service in the armed forces at a time when it was certain they'd likely serve in Vietnam.

These American protesters in Vietnam are laying their lives on the line. We read many battle stories about their bravery. We hear much less about their beliefs or the things they're doing for Vietnam when they're not fighting.

Five Ku Klux Klansmen held a rally in the Southeast some time back. It was covered by 41 newspaper, radio and television men. There were said to be 200 reporters at one California KKK rally, attended by only a handful of klansmen.

The other night this reporter attended a meeting of a major political party which nominated a man for the County Board of Supervisors. The work of the man to be elected, and that of the supervisors for the six other districts, will strongly affect the lives of 300,000 people in the next four years. There were 297 people at the meeting. This reporter could find no mention of the event in two of the area's leading newspapers.

A tiny CORE (Committee on Racial Equality) meeting, discussing violent action, drew twice as many reporters as delegates.

A 1,500-delegate national Urban League convention, attended by the employers of 10 million men and women and discussing better ways to train and employ Negroes, drew only a handful of reporters.

Thirty-seven placard-waving demonstrators at the Pentagon last year gained national television and press coverage. Almost unnoticed the same day was the movement of 35 truckloads of clothes and other gifts gathered by Virginia Junior Chamber of Commerce members for distribution in Vietnam.

At a dinner the other evening, a Negro editor who himself favors more civil rights for his people, nevertheless protested that the wrong acts and the wrong proposals were publicized because, as he put it, any Negro—just one, representing perhaps only himself—could phone a newspaper, promise a demonstration and be sure of coverage. Constructive groups have a harder time.

Civic groups composed of hundreds of people make important changes in their community. They struggle to be heard.

But if one man burns his draft card and wedges himself in the door of a public building in protest, reporters and photographers cover his actions in minute detail.

Aren't we losing sight of something?

Dear Ann:

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I teach sociology in a Connecticut college. I made a recent travel study around the nation, talking to college students on sex. Their reports indicate that a good-looking male student of 21, if he has a smooth tongue, can seduce nine out of 10 of the pretty girls he takes out, regardless of her age, religion, social or economic background.

Are these young boys bragging or dreaming? — NO NAME PLEASE

Dear No Name: The percentage sounds wildly inflated to me. Moreover, I suspect males who make such claims are not only bragging and dreaming—they are also selling.

The idea that everybody is doing it has great sales appeal. The young men hoped to get this notion across to you as well as the girls whose resistance they are attemtping to break down. Get it?

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I was a heavy woman when my husband married me 17 years ago. I tried every imaginable kind of diet, and I did lose weight but I always gained it back.

Five years ago I put myself under a doctor's care. He found I had a thyroid condition and gave me medication and a strict diet. I lost 80 pounds. My husband kept saying, "You'll probably gain it all back.

I was very proud of myself, but my weight loss didn't accomplish what I had hoped for. My husband was still more interested in watching sports events on TV or going out alone. His idea of celebrating our wedding anniversary was to go to sleep early.

Within one year, I gained back the 80 pounds plus another 20. I've never been so depressed. I don't even feel like a human being, let alone a woman. If it weren't for our four children, I'd get a divorce. I see a social worker every week, and he tells me that no progress can be made until my husband comes in for talks. My husband refuses—says I'm the one who is nuts, not him. Please tell me what to do.—LORAIN

Dear L: If you've been seeing a social worker every week, you don't need me to tell you that your problem originates in your head. You are using food as a substitute for companionship and blaming your husband for your obesity. You need intensive therapy and I hope you get it soon.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I know this letter stands a one-in-a-million chance of getting printed because so many people write about serious problems, but I'm going to take a chance anyway.

I work in the mail department of a large organization. Every day we receive hundreds of letters to employes. The envelopes often read: Mary Smith, Macy's Department Store, New York.

Mary could be a corset buyer, a cleaning woman, or the secretary to the president. It takes a lot of time to hunt up Mary Smith, and the hundreds of other employes whose mail is inadequately addressed.

Please tell people to write the name of the department on the envelope, and the person's title, if he has one.—FRUSTRATED

Dear Frus: Here's your letter, and based on my own mail, which runs about 1,000 letters a day, your chances for getting a letter in print were not one in a million, but approximately one in 333, since I usually print three letters a day. Thank you for writing about a problem I've never heard of before. Who says there is nothing new under the sun?

* * *

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Mature Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: When my sister died in childbirth 12 years ago, I looked after the baby for her father. Ten months later he married a woman who wanted a family of her own and agreed to let us adopt Karen legally. She is as dear to us as if she were our own child. But within the last few months she has several times threatened to go and live with her father if she is not given her own way. I am sure he doesn't want her and want to know if I should tell her so?

ANSWER: No, but if that is the truth, she should be encouraged to discover it for herself.

As it is, I bet she's half-aware of it and is proposing to go live with her father because she wants her suspicion confirmed. I think she wants to get done with the anxieties caused by her unresolved relationship to him and to finally establish acceptance of you and your husband as her parents.

And the way to do that would be to eliminate him as a reliable parent, wouldn't it?

So, were I you, I'd cooperate with her effort to discover his unreliability for herself. I'd suggest that she propose making a long visit to her father's home and say, "If you're happier there than you are with us, you may want to stay with him. If you're not, come right straight back to us. Whatever happens, this home is yours for as long as you want it to be."

As a child enters adolescence, he needs certainty of his parents' affection. It's the firm ground of that affection he uses as his runway to take off confidently into the wild blue yonder—independence of it. But so long as there exists the possibility of firm affection in her natural father, it's hard for Karen to finally decide to trust yours. I think this brave child of yours is now trying to make this decision, and that she's proposing to leave your home to go and live in her father's in order to return to yours as the home she's sure of—the one that really belongs to her.

TV Brings Viet War Into Living Rooms

By NOEL GROVE

The wonders of modern science have wrought another first—viewing a war from your living room almost as it happens.

And with hand-held mobile television units and communication satellites promising live coverage in the near future, the inevitable has already occurred. A Georgia couple watching a news broadcast saw their own son step on a land mine, so plainly, as his mother put it, "I could almost touch him."

Fortunately, this episode appears to have a happy ending. The young GI expects to recover fully from his leg and abdominal wounds.

It is reasonable to assume that if live war actually comes to the home screen, more of the same can be expected, and much, much worse. With no time for editing, what of the strategically placed hand grenade, the sniper's bullet coming off cue, the booby trap swinging down from a hut roof and impaling Cousin Richard waist-high while he is on-camera?

Live television coverage aside, is a moral issue involved in graphic coverage of the war even as it now stands? Are we chancing unnecessary torment to the families of the combat soldier? It was two days after seeing the explosion envelop their loved one before the Georgia couple and the young GI's wife learned that he was still alive.

Is it indelicate for some to lounge near the air conditioner sipping a Scotch and soda while watching their young countrymen face death in a Far Eastern jungle?

On the other hand, is there not some benefit in having the horrors of a remote war brought home for complacent countrymen to see, uncensored?

The eagerness of a sheltered society to view all aspects of life will probably demand the realism continue. But questions arise as, trapped by our own genius and curiosity, we plunge toward authenticity in its most graphic forms.

The Doctor Says

By W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Nespaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — What is gastroenteritis? What is its cause and cure?

A — This is an inflammation of the stomach (gastritis) and intestines (enteritis). The chief symptoms are vomiting and diarrhea. It may be caused by laxatives, irritating foods, excessive intake of alcohol, various types of food poisoning and infections of the digestive tract. The treatment would be to remove the cause. You should eat a bland diet until the acute phase has subsided.

Q — What are the symptoms of gastric cancer? What is the treatment?

A — The symptoms are varied. Unfortunately, the disease may progress to a fairly advanced stage without causing any symptoms. In some victims there may be a mild distress or feeling of heaviness in the pit of the stomach but this is by no means diagnostic of stomach cancer. If the tumor obstructs the outlet of the stomach there will be nausea and vomiting. When the disease is discovered, and the diagnosis is certain, the only effective treatment is removal of the stomach.

Q — My husband has stomach spasms. What would cause them?

A — If by stomach spasms you mean attacks of colicky pain in the abdomen, the most likely cause is colitis. The cause is usually a combination of irritating foods, laxatives and nervous tension.

Q — I have been taking drops of hydrochloric acid with each meal for 12 years. Is it necessary to take these drops when I eat tomatoes or citrus fruits?

A— The acid in the foods you mentioned (citric acid) does not aid in the digestion of your food. Hydrochloric acid, although not essential to digestion, is an aid and apparently helpful to some persons whose stomachs do not produce this acid in sufficient quantity.

Q — Is it more common for a person who is nervous and high-strung to have a sour stomach than a person who is calm and collected?

A — A sour stomach is usually the result of eating too fast, getting an excess of greasy foods or the presence of a peptic ulcer. Nervous tension is definitely a contributory cause.

Kammes-Mugharbel Wedding Is Performed in Florida Church

Miss Margaret Anne Kammes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Kammes, Dixon, became the bride of Mokhless Khaled Mugharbel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Khaled H. Mugharbel, Hama, Syria, in a wedding performed at 11 a.m. April 29 in Blessed Sacrament Church, Tallahassee, Fla.

Arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums trimmed the church altar where vows were exchanged by the couple as the Rev. Myles F. Callahan, pastor of St. Anne's Catholic Church, Dixon, officiated. Organ selections for the double-ring service were provided by Mrs. Arthur Behrens, Tallahassee.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned with tapered sleeves and a sheath skirt accented by a pleated back-panel and a Camelot chapel train of lace. A pearl and crystal embroidered lace flower held her three-tiered bridal veil of silk illusion, and she carried a cascading bouquet of white butterfly roses and ivy strands.

Miss Sharon Goy, Chicago, the bride's maid of honor, wore a full-length gown of mint green saki designed with an empire bodice featuring cap sleeves and miniature back-bows. A pleated back-panel trimmed the gown's A-line skirt, and her headdress was a matching Dior bow encircled by four tiers of veiling. White shasta daisies formed her bouquet.

Moses Dametry, Tallahassee, attended the bridegroom as best man, and ushering was done by Russell Bevis and Lamar Jones, Tallahassee.

A reception was held in the banquet hall of the Tallahassee Federal Savings and Loan Building following the ceremony when a decorated cake topped by a miniature replica of the bride's bouquet was served at a table which held lighted tapers in candelabras and twin floral arrangements. White carnations and white shasta daisies were combined in centerpieces for the two punch tables.

Assisting during the reception were Miss Irene Edwards, Brewton, Ala.; Miss Dorothy Kammes, Big Rock, cousin of the bride: Miss Florence Weaver, Greensboro, N. C.; Miss Vee Antonson, Sarasota, Fla., and the bride's aunts, Miss Lucy Kennedy, New York City, N. Y., and Mrs. Felix McElvogue, Clearwater, Fla.

When the newlyweds, who will reside at 1200 N. Bronough St., Tallahassee, departed on a wedding trip to areas of the gulf coast, the bride was wearing a three-piece navy blue knit suit with navy and white accessories and the corsage from her bouquet. She received a master of science degree in 1966 from Florida State University, Tallahassee, and is employed as a guidance counselor for North Florida Junior College, Madison, Fla., and the Gadsden County School System.

Mr. Mugharbel is enrolled at Florida State University where he is completing requirements for a Ph.D. degree in guidance and counseling.

Guests attending their wedding and reception were from Dixon, Big Rock and Chicago and from New York City, N. Y.; Brewton, Ala.; Greensboro, N. C.; Wilkes Barre, Pa.; Clearwater, Ocala, Havana, Madison, Quincy, Sarasota and Miami, Fla.

Country Club Association Golf Awards

Wednesday's golf activities for 40 members of the Dixon Country Club Women's Association were arranged by Mrs. John Douglas and Mrs. Wendell Holmes, and were preceded by a "coffee" in the clubhouse.

Awards presented during a luncheon following golf went to Mrs. Newell Plasters, low net; Mrs. Leon Hubbs, low gross, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, high putts; Mrs. Eugene Krahenbuhl, par on hole number five, and Mrs. Francis Henry, who scored the most "sevens." Mrs. Henry Osback was winner of the day's special award.

Association members will meet Wednesday in the clubhouse for an 8 a.m. "coffee." Tee-off time for members participating in 18-hole golf will be 8:30 a.m., and tee-off time for nine-hole golfers will follow.

Mrs. Allwood Is Hostess to Wa-tan-ye Club

Mrs. Mary Allwood entertained 27 members of the Wa-tan-ye Service Club at a Wednesday night dinner which preceded a business meeting conducted by the club president, Mrs. Juanita Whitmer, who announced that Dixon club members would be hostesses for the Wa-tan-ye National Convention scheduled for October of 1968.

Mrs. Frances Hutten announced that three walkers had been ordered to add to equipment loaned by the club to medical patients confined to their homes. Four hospital beds are also available, and arrangements for securing the equipment may be made by contacting Mrs. Frances Wilson, service chairman, or Mrs. Hutten, co-chairman.

The club's next meeting was scheduled for June 7 with Mrs. Mable Schultz.

Woman's Club Members Attend State Convention

The Dixon Woman's Club was represented by seven members at the annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs held last week in the Sherman House, Chicago.

Dixon clubwomen participating in convention activities were Mrs. John F. Brown, president of the federation's 13th District; Mrs. Bruce Whites, district corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edward Hoyle, Mrs. Earl Bennyhoff, Mrs. E. M. Greene, and two members of the district board of directors, Mrs. John Thomas, continuing chairman, and Miss Alice Thomson, president of the Dixon club.

The 1,300 Illinois clubwomen attending the three-day convention represented 1,004 state clubs, and included 50 members of District 13 clubs.

Mrs. Milton Vaupel, Ashton, vice president of the federation's Northern Region, presented awards to winners of the state membership contest, and Mrs. Brown accepted an award for the newly organized Dixon Evening Woman's Club. Mrs. Ronald Shear, Fulton, retiring district junior director, represented the new Dixon Junior Woman's Club, and the Albany Junior Woman's Club was recognized as the third new junior club organized during the past year.

Mrs. Donald Hinderliter, Rochelle, was introduced as the new district junior director, and a Certificate of Award was presented to District 13 for a Feb. 14 Fine Arts Day held at Shimer College, Mount Carroll, when Mrs. Blendon Kneale of Mount Carroll, District Arts and Crafts chairman and "Pennies for Art" chairman, was assisted by members of the Mount Carroll Community Club.

Mrs. Henry Sonderquist, state chairman of the Gardens and Beautification Division, announced that an Award of Excellence had been won by the Byron Woman's Club for repairing and beautifying the Byron Soldier's Monument, the first erected in Illinois following the Civil War. The award was presented to Mrs. Leo Pieper, president of the club, during a meeting held Tuesday at the Wagon Wheel, Rockton.

Certificates of Accomplishment, awarded by the IFWC and the American Cancer Society of Illinois, were presented by Mrs. John Jacobs, chairman of the State Health Division, to the Dixon Woman's Club, Amboy Evening Woman's Club and the Stillman Valley Woman's Club for their participation in a project, "Prompt Action Protects," sponsored by the federation's health division.

Mrs. Alvah Drew Sr., a member of the Dixon club, won a second place award in the light verse division of a state creative writing contest for her entry entitled "Collector Madness," and Mrs. Shear was the recipient of the Myrtle Young Trophy for organizing two new junior clubs in the district.

Mrs. Harold Myers, Rochelle, District 13 president for the past two years, reported on the achievements of district clubs and introduced Mrs. Brown as the new president.

State officers were assisted in conducting workshops by the following members of the state board of directors: Mrs. Roy Barkman, Fenton, public education chairman; Mrs. F. J. Mullin, Mount Carroll, continuing education chairman, and Mrs. Donald Wetzell, Sterling, youth welfare chairman. A class in parliamentary procedure was conducted by Mrs. George Wardle, and Mrs. Mullin also presided at a tea for members of the ESO Reading Group in which Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Brown are enrolled as "pledges."

New Central Region officers elected were Mrs. Harold Hensler, Joliet, secretary, and Mrs. Thomas Haude, Kankakee, vice persident.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Is Held In Church Hall

Mrs. Thomas Sheppard gave the invocation preceding Tuesday night's Mother and Daughter Banquet held in the fellowship hall of the First Christian Church, Disciples of Christ, when "Evolution of an Apron" was the theme for a program and decorations.

Miniature aprons encircled containers holding bouquets of lilacs and tulips that centered banquet tables arranged for 140 guests.

Mrs. Robert Shippert, mistress of ceremonies, welcomed the guests, and toasts to the mothers and daughters were given by Miss Linda Harderson and her mother, Mrs. Harold Harderson.

Awards were presented to Mrs. Ida Rice, the mother attending with the oldest daughter, Mrs. Harry Schuler; Mrs. Robert Stauffer, the mother of the youngest daughter present; Mrs. Raymond Hodge, the youngest grandmother, and Mrs. Larry Hill, the youngest mother present.

A playlet on the banquet theme was presented by church members in the sanctuary, and girls of the junior choir sang "Tie Me To Your Apron Strings Again."

Mrs. Helen Sodini served as chairman of the committee in charge of preparing the banquet which was served by men of the church.

More 'Specials' Set Next Year

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The television year 1967-68 shapes up as a very special season.

Perhaps it should be placed in quotes like this: "special." Because, judging from the series announced for the new year, one must conclude the season doesn't sound special at all. The weekly fare seems like the same dreary procession of laugh-tracked comedies, hard-bitten westerns, crime dramas and variety shows.

The only promising note is that the networks seem to have discovered the power of the special. Breaking up the weekly schedules with one-shot shows diversifies programming and brings back the thinking audience which has lost the viewing habit out of ennui.

The cold-cash value of specials is demonstrated in recent ratings. The three top shows were specials, and two others placed in among the first 11.

The networks have been scrambling to line up stars with enough talent and name to sustain hour-long or 90-minute specials. NBC has Bob Hope for nine next season, and Danny Thomas will be doing six in conjunction with his weekly show. Andy Williams is set for three and there will be one apiece from Jack Benny, Bill Cosby and Rowan and Martin.

Bellringers Barbra Streisand and Dick Van Dyke will be returning to CBS for a special apiece, and probably Jim Nabors, Frank Sinatra, Red Skelton and Don Knotts. Doris Day may well make her television debut in a special, since she has signed to make features for the new CBS feature film division.

ABC has signed Debbie Reynolds and Carol Channing to star in their own specials. The network also has the Oscar and Tony award shows and plans a number of taped dramas, including "The Diary of Anne Frank" and "Dial M for Murder."

CBS is doing its bit for culture by scheduling the Royal Shakespeare Co. of England, "S. Hurok Presents," specials based on the lives and works of Oscar Wilde and Anton Chekhov and more dramas from CBS Playyouse.

NBC is planning an original musical based on Robin Hood, a new version of "Androcles and the Lion," plus the Hallmark Hall of Fame and Bell Telephone Hours.

Add to these the usual supplies of ice shows, beauty pageants, holiday parades, Christmas programs, news documentaries, etc., and you've got television's most "special" season.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-548: Rod Cameron is a superlative young clergyman. Recently he returned from several years as a missionary in Africa.

Since he had used my college textbook while in college, he has kept in contact with me, so he drove over to have a little personal visit.

"How did you happen to come back to the States?" I asked.

"Well, Dr. Crane," he replied, "there were two reasons.

"The Communists began threatening us in Africa so we had to have local police protection.

"But our children need to be in school, so my wife and I decided we ought to bring them back to the United States."

Then he asked me if I thought he could do as much good in America as on an African missionary post.

And I very definitely replied that I feel we are now in more need of superb platform orators in our American pulpits than on the mission fields abroad.

For America is now the last great hope of altruism, world peace and religion.

If we succumb to moral decay and zooming juvenile delinquency, then the main fountain for missionary funds abroad will dry up fast.

Rod Cameron is the diligent cleric who taught himself to be a professional ventriloquist.

He and his "Dummy" can thrill a teen-age audience (or oldsters, too) with their snappy dialogue and even their singing of church hymns!

In Africa he employed his ventriloquist dummy to confound the hostile witch doctors.

But it works just as well right here in America.

"Besides," I said, "a superlative orator like you who can make an audience laugh or cry and inspire them to lofty idealism, can easily obtain enough extra contributions to send half a dozen missionaries to Africa to replace you.

"And while each one of those may not match your own versatile ability in that little jungle parish, the combined efforts of all of those you can finance, will surpass your own missionary accomplishment.

"But many of those missionaries would be very mediocre in a large American pulpit.

"So the time has come to keep topnotch orators right here at home in our American pulpits and send the poorer speakers as foreign missionaries.

"For our churches are slipping in attendance and influence.

"They aren't even recruiting members as fast as the population rises.

"So we need more young men to follow Dr. Peale, Bishop Sheen, Billy Graham, Oral Roberts and other accomplished men here in America, to maintain the religious fervor that will then produce the money for future foreign missions!"

Rod Cameron thanked me.

"Dr. Crane," he said, "I am grateful for your outside counsel since I want to do whatever accomplishes the most good for our Lord."

Since I have sat in his audience here in America, I can rate him as deserving an "A" grade in pulpit oratory.

And it is not efficient to send a 10-talent man into a field where he can't produce more than 5-talent dividends!

America is where we need topmost church orators nowadays!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Wind Hampers Dixon State Linksters

Lessner Is Low Shooter

CHAMPAIGN (AP) — New Trier's East's four-man team was favored today to retain the state high school golf crown after taking a nine-stroke lead in the opening round.

The Indians toured the wind-lashed Savoy courses Friday for a combined 316 strokes.

Waukegan was second with 325, followed by Jacksonville and La-Grange, each 331; Glenbard West 332; Quincy 333, and Belleville West, Carterville and Elgin Larker, each 334.

The 36-hole tourney is contested over two Savoy courses. The tougher Orange course carries a par 72. The Blue course has a par 73, but is a wide-open links.

Mike Poulsen of Peoria Bergan, playing the Blue, grabbed the individual lead with 73. Bracketed behind him with 75's were Dave Reininger, Mt. Vernon; Bill Hoffer, Elgin Larkin; and Brian Kotzzin, New Trier East.

Top scorer on the Orange was Bob Pegararo of Rockford Boylan with a 78. He will try to make up ground today when the players switch courses.

Dixon was listed as in 20th place out of 23 possible places at the halfway point.

Tom Lessener led the squad with a 41-41 for an 82, while Ward Hey fired an 85.

Kim Krahenbuhl carded an 87, with Don Detweiler marking up a 93.

Scores are based on the top four players. Matt Henry, Dixon's other entry, shot a 95 in first round action Friday afternoon on the windswept course.

Chicago Posts 20th Victory

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Gary Peters was looking ahead to old age while Mickey Lolich was looking ahead to military reserve duty.

But they had one thing in common Friday night—both were equally successful on the pitching mound in quest of their fifth victories. And they kept the American League pennant chase a two-way affair involving Chicago and Detroit.

Peters' seven-hitter gave the White Sox a 9-1 triumph over Kansas City while Lolich's five-hitter handed the Tigers a 4-2 victory over New York.

Chicago now has a 20-8 record that is the best in the majors while Detroit is just 1 1-2 games back at 19-10. The third place team, Kansas City, is 6 1-2 games behind but the A's are just one game ahead of ninth place Minnesota.

Peters, who's 5-1 this season now and holds a 13-4 lifetime mark against the A's, said he was throwing "fastballs and sliders with a few more sliders than usual."

He then added with a smile, "and a few knuckleballs, too, I guess it was kind of experience for old age."

Peters, who is just 30, must be thinking of fellow teammate Hoyt Wilhelm, the knuckleballer who'll be 44 in July but is still effective.

Don Buford slugged two triples to pace the surprising 13-hit Chicago attack while Tommie Agee collected two singles and stole three bases.

Lolich, a member of the Michigan Air National Guard, was moved up a day in the rotation by manager Mayo Smith, who's looking ahead to Lolich's reserve duty in June. Lolich will miss the weekend of June 10-11 and then will spend two weeks in summer camp at Alpena, Mich., as a truck driver starting June 17.

Bill Freehan and Ray Oyler hit sacrifice flies in the second and Freehan and Willie Horton later added solo homers off loser Mel Stottlemyre to give Lolich his victory. Mickey Mantle batted in both Yankee runs, the second coming on his 502d career homer.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston edged Cleveland 3-2, Baltimore blasted Washington 11-5 and Minnesota topped California 5-2.

Practice Set

The Legion baseball team will hold a practice session Sunday at 1 p.m. at Reynolds Field.

There will be a practice session of the Dixon City League at Reynolds Field Sunday evening at 6 p.m. All persons interested in signing up for the league are required to attend either the Sunday practice or the one to be held Wednesday night at 6:30 p.m.

Spartans Favored In Track

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Michigan State which specializes in brawn and speed both on the gridiron and on the track launches a formidable bid for a third straight title in the 67th Big Ten outdoor track and field meet Friday.

The MSU Spartans, who also have stowed away two successive perfect championship football seasons are solidly favored to become only the third Big Ten school in history to sweep three straight outdoor track crowns.

Friday's competition on the new $50,000 all-weather running saucer at the University of Iowa includes prelims in eight events and finals in just about the only two events lacking Michigan State scoring talent — the discus and long jump.

On Saturday, the field of nearly 250 athletes will bear down on the closing 16-event program including four events added for Olympic conditioning. Friday's competition begins at 3:30 p.m. CDT and Saturday's action starts at 1:00.

Funny Cars At Cordova

"Funny Cars" will be the feature attraction at Cordova Drag Strip Saturday evening. A full dozen of these late model Detroit cars, with altered wheelbase to give better traction and fiberglass bodies to make them lighter, will be in competition.

Six of these strictly drag race cars are 1967 models—A Dodge Charger, Cougar, Camero, GTO, Barracuda and a Ranchero. Four 1966 models include a Malibu driven by Miss Bonnie Anderson. She races heads up with the men and has more than held her own.

The 1965 models are a Comet and a Mustang. Nearly all of these have one piece fiberglass bodies in place of the conventional steel bodies. Along with plexiglass windows and a generous use of aluminum in the chassis, their weights average about 2400 lbs. instead of 3400 to 3800 lbs. in stock form.

Coupled with engines producing 500 to 600 H.P., these "Funny Cars" are capable of 150 mph in the low nine second bracket.

With a large cash purse up, no holds barred, this will be a real battle!

A complete drag racing program of stockers, gassers, motorcycles and nitro fuel burning dragsters will start at 8 p.m. Saturday. Cordova Drag Strip is located two miles north of Cordova on Illinois 84.

Tennis Lead to New Trier

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Powerful New Trier East had the team championship locked up as the State high school tennis championships entered the semifinals today.

The Indians cinched the crown by compiling 11 points through Friday's quarter-finals. They had fourth-seeded Chris Nielsen still in the running in today's singles as well as a pair of doubles teams - No. 1 Ernest Clements - Andy Crawford and No. 5 Doug McLaury - Brian Hewitt.

No. 1 John Kayser of defending champion Hinsdale Central, runnerup last year, headed all top-ranked singles players into the semifinals. In addition to him and Nielsen, the others were No. 2 Mark Bishop, Niles East and No. 3 Cale Carvell, Evanston.

State Track

Evanston Favored To Retain Crown

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Defending champion Evanston went into the Illinois High School track championship finals today as a strong favorite to repeat its conquest of the state crown.

Evanston emerged from the final events Friday in a three-way tie for the lead with Bloomington and Hillside-Proviso West with 6 points.

Alton, Rockford East and Rockford Guilford were grouped in the second tier with 4 points each.

East St. Louis, billed as a strong contender for the crown, scored one meet point, and Bloom, another favorite, had yet to score its first.

Much of Friday's activity, however, was focused on qualification events for today's finals.

Richard Lewis of Evanston topped the long jump final competition with a jump of 23 feet, ½ inch.

Ed Rogers of Bloomington took the discus throw with a toss of 176 feet, 8½ inches to give Bloomington its three meet points.

Rich Elliott of Hillside-Proviso won the two-mile run with a time of 9:32.8.

In the qualifying events, nine pole vaulters topped 13 feet, 4 inches to qualify for the finals, and eight entries qualified in the high jump at 6 feet, 3 inches.

Hershel Benderry of Bloom topped six qualifiers in the shot put with a 60 foot, 2½ inch heave.

In the mile relay, Chicago Harlan paced the 16 qualifying teams with a time of 3:23.4.

Sprint and hurdle times Friday were disqualified from the record books due to wind. Rockford East's Bill Brown turned in a 20.8 second mark in the 220-yard dash, and three sprinters turned the 100 in 9.6.

Rich Lyon of Wheaton North and Mike Goodrich of East St. Louis ran the 100 in 9.5 in preliminaries.

The top qualifier in the 180 low hurdles was Steve Dartt, another East St. Louis contender, with a time of 18.9 seconds.

Mike Coyle of Elgin Larkin topped the 440-yard dash qualifications with a 48.6 second performance.

Dixon's two entries in the state meet, Pat White in the 2 mile event and Bob Brainerd in the 180 lows failed to place.

Brainerd managed to make the semifinals with a 20.1 preliminary time, but fell victim to faster times in the semis.

Time Trials To Continue

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —A host of veteran drivers still were looking for berths in the Memorial Day 500-mile auto race as the final weekend of qualification trials began today at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The first day of qualifications, last Saturday, filled 25 berths, but rain washed out the second day of trials.

That left today and Sunday to make the 33-car field for the May 30 classic.

Among those still without stops in the field were defending champion Graham Hill of England and such veterans as Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., Jim Hurtubise of North Tonawanda, N.Y., and Bud Tingelstad of Dayton, Ohio.

Newcomers Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico, Jochen Rindt of Austria, Dennis Hulme of Australia and Chris Amon of New Zealand also sought places.

The safest bet for a starting berth appeared to be McCluskey. He had been practicing consistently at around 167 miles an hour earlier this month and had been considered a top contender for pole position honors last week until engine trouble sidelined him.

The car was back in action this week, and McCluskey was practicing at around 163 mph.

Hurtubise and Rindt also appeared to be well on their way toward qualification after laps this week in the 162-163 mph range.

Americans Post Commanding Lead

By HENRY W. THORNBERRY
UPI Sports Writer

SANDWICH, England (UPI)— The strong winds came roaring off the English Channel Friday, but it was the United States golfers who blew Great Britain's Walker Cup chances out to sea.

The talented U.S. golfers, seeking their 19th Walker Cup title in 21 tries, practically wrapped up the championship Friday by taking three foursome matches and five singles for a commanding 8-1 lead. They needed only three victories in today's final 12 matches to clinch the international amateur golf prize.

Ignoring the bitter cold weather created by the heavy winds, the Americans toured the 6,748-yard, par-70 Royal St. George course with poise and precision Friday as captain Jesse Sweetser employed all 10 of his golfers.

Happy With Results

"It was much better than I expected," Sweetser said. "In this weather I'd have been satisifed with playing them even. Our boys played fine golf and they made the crucial putts. We have a commanding lead and should win, but it takes very little to change the course of a match, and it's not over yet."

Sweetser said he planned to use all 10 men again today, and if the Americans continue to play as they did Friday they should wrap up the championship before the afternoon singles matches.

The best performance on the American squad was turned in by Bob Dickson, a tall, bespectacled Oklahoman and son of a Muskogee golf pro. Dickson pitched and putted superbly to crush British teenager Peter Oosterhuis, 6 and 4.

In other singles matches Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael, Calif., defeated Attenborough, 4 and 3, Bill Campbell of Huntington W.Va., edged Ronnie Shade, 2 and 1, Bob Murphy of Gainesville, Fla., beat Rodney Foster, 2 and 1, and teenager Jack Lewis of Florence, S.C., upended Tom Craddock.

Downing Gay of Pensacola, Fla., halved his match with Michael Bonnallack, the 1965 British Amateur champion, and Don Allen of Rochester, N.Y., sank a 40-foot putt on the 18th hole to halve his match with Sandy Pirie.

Fleckman Beaten

The only U.S. player to suffer defeat was Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur, Tex., who lost 3 and 2 to Sandy Saddler. Fleckman was a late choice to replace Deane Beman on the team with Murphy and Cerrudo halving with Shade and Oosterhuis, but the U.S. ran off three straight doubles victories after that to begin its onslaught.

Gray and Ed Tutwiler of Indianapolis defeated Bonnallack and Attenborough, 4 and 2, Campbell and Lewis whipped Foster and Saddler, 1-up, and Jim Grant of Wethersfield, Conn., and Dickson beat Carr and Craddock, 3 and 1.

While it appears certain the U.S. will win the Walker Cup, it is well remembered how Great Britain rallied from an 8-3 first day deficit to tie for the championship in 1965.

St. Louis Tops Mets; Maloney Posts Wins

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer

Jim Maloney had to sing for his supper, but he may have earned back his "mealticket" designation.

The Cincinnati Reds' right-hander, who has been bothered by a sore shoulder for most of the season, was not scheduled to pitch Friday night, but he asked manager Dave Bristol for a chance to test his balky arm against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Bristol agreed and Maloney responded with his strongest pitching effort of the year as the Reds scored a 6-1 victory. The 26-year-old Maloney, who carries much of the Reds' pennant hopes on his broad shoulders, struck out 11 and scattered nine hits while going the distance for the first time this year.

"I had been bothered by some shoulder problem but I don't like to talk about it," said the two-time 20-game winner. "It looks like an alibi. But I felt real loose tonight and I hope I've licked the problem."

Strong Finish

Maloney, who raised his record to 3-2, also contributed two key hits to the Cincinnati attack. He drove in two runs with an eighth-inning double and set up two more with a hit-and-run single in the fifth. He struck out the side in the ninth to end the game.

In other National League action, Atlanta edged Pittsburgh 3-2, San Francisco beat Houston 6-2, St. Louis defeated New York 6-3 and Los Angeles blanked Chicago 8-0.

Mack Jones' two-run homer capped a three-run sixth inning and helped Braves' southpaw Denny Lemaster notch his third victory in four decisions. Jones' third home run of the year followed a walk to Joe Torre and a run-scoring double by Rico Carty and helped tag Dennis Ribant with his second loss in three decisions.

Tom Haller and Willie McCovey hit eighth inning home runs to break a 2-2 tie and spark the Giants' victory. Bob Bolin, who took over from Ray Sadecki with one out in the first, went eight and two-thirds innings to notch his third triumph while Don Wilson was charged with the loss.

Home runs by Lou Brock and Julian Javier paced a 14-hit Cardinal attack and helped righthander Bob Gibson pickup his fifth victory against three losses. Tommy Davis and Al Luplow homered for the Mets.

Don Drysdale pitched a six-hitter and notched his 38th career shutout as the Dodgers pounded out 14 hits to beat the Cubs. Jeff Torborg belted a three-run homer for the Dodgers and Jim Lefebvre collected three hits, but the loudest noise was made by Chicago manager Leo Durocher, who was ejected from the game for the first time this year.

Proud Clarion Seeks A Preakness Victory

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Kentucky Derby winner answers horse racing's big question Saturday over Pimlico's history-steeped track when Proud Clarion attempts to prove that his victory at Churchill Downs was no fluke.

The lanky son of Hail to Reason from John Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm, who dropped out of the clouds at odds of 30-1 to win the Derby on May 6, takes on nine other 3-year-olds at 5:30 p.m., EDT, in the 1 3-16 miles of the 92nd running of the Preakness.

Arrayed against him will be four of the field he whipped in the Derby, runner-up Barbs Delight, third-place Damascus, fourth-place Reason to Hail and Ask the Fare, who wound up fifth.

To the cast has been added Florida Derby winner In Reality; Great Power, a speedster who has won his last two starts; Favorable Turn; Misty Cloudy and Celtic Air, a stablemate of Damascus and the only surprise when the entry box was opened Thursday.

Trainer Frank Whiteley Jr. had given no indication that Damascus would have a running mate. The pair have different owners, with Damascus racing in the white and red dot silks of Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft and Celtic Air for Orme Wilson Jr., a State Department employe in Washington.

With the owners paying a starting fee of $1,000 each, in addition to the entry fee of $1,000, the second leg of the Triple Crown will have a record gross value of $194,000. To the winner will go $141,500—also a new high for the run for the Black Eyed Susans.

Columbia Broacasting System will televise the race from 5:45 p.m., EDT.

The track handicapper has made Mrs. Frances A. Genter's In Reality the 5-2 favorite, with Proud Clarion and the entry of Damascus and Celtic Air next in line at 3-1. Barbs Delight, beaten one-length after setting most of the pace in the one-sixteenth mile longer Derby, follows at 5-1.

But the crowd, expected by track officials to number between 30,000 and 35,000, might well change all that before the cry of "They're off" echoes through the ancient plant on the edge of this city of terrapin stew and crab cakes.

Damascus, bred in Kentucky but quartered at nearby Laurel, is sure to come in for strong support from the home folks. The son of Sword Dancer, flying the same silks carried to Preakness victories by such greats as Gallant Fox, Omaha, and Nashua, was a strong choice to take the Derby. But he flattened out in the last one-eighth mile after making a strong move and was beaten four lengths.
